

Would You Rather: Spring

Introduction

This fun "would you rather" speaking activity encourages students to state their preference, even with limited vocabulary!

Before the Lesson

Print (A4 size), laminate, and cut out the cards. In lieu of laminating, print on thicker A4 cardstock paper. Be sure to print enough copies for the amount of students you have, for example, if you have 15 students in class, print the pdf five times and group students into threes.

In the Lesson

You can either play this as a class discussion, or split students into groups.

For a class discussion, distribute the cards evenly among yourself and the students. Take turns reading the cards and selecting an option. This is a great chance to gather everyone's preferences and see how many choose each option.

For a group activity, give each group a set of cards and have them stack them in the center. Students will take turns drawing a card, reading the statement aloud, and choosing an option. The other group members will then indicate whether they agree or prefer the other choice. At the end of the class, you can poll the students on each statement to find out how many selected each option.

Be prepared to teach any new vocabulary that students may encounter.*
